B. C. CUTS LIQUOR PERMIT PRICE
HEAVY PENALTIES HANDED OUT
R. B. BENNETT TO ATTEND MEET
PREPARE TO FLY TO NORTH POLE
U.S. DOES NOT FAVOR INFILTRATION

British Columbia has reduced the price of liquor permits from $15 to $10 cents, to cover everything sold in the government vendors' stores. A reduction in the cost of beer to consumers is forecast, the purpose being to cut out home-brew beer and home distilled wines limit bootlegging and maintain British Columbia's attractions as a tourist resort. It is believed that the state will not be affected by similar attractions in the state of Washington.

VANCOUVER—Not since the gold rush days has anyone expected such a heavy penalty hand in British Columbia as last Thursday when Justice D. A. McDonald sentenced two youths to life imprisonment for robbery with violence, and a third, a Chinese to the same sentence for attempted murder. The two youths had been convicted for the robbery of the $1,854 payroll of the Ross and Coward Iron Works. The Chinese was convicted of the attempted murder by shooting a Chinese labor contractor. The culprit had fled to China, but was brought back.

WASHINGTON—Word that President Miller B. Bennett would be present at President Roosevelt's economic talks from April 25 to 28 Canadian was received from the British capital. This Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald and former Premier Edward Herriot will be in Washington at the same time as Mr. Bennett.

As the meeting time experts are working away on the difficult task of preparing for President Roosevelt's bill on which he will rely for power to make reciprocal tariff agreements with various nations. He desires this in order to be able to work with a free hand to deal with reduction of barriers in trade with other countries.

HALIFAX—Bernat Balchen, noted trans-Atlantic pilot, left Halifax, Nova Scotia, for New York, to complete plans for a 3,000 mile flight of exploration over the Atlantic on which he will set sail. In New York Balchen will meet Lincoln Ellsworth, leader of the expedition, and Sir Hubert Wilkes, who is accompanying Ellsworth on a voyage to the south. The expedition is expected to take two years to complete and its backers hope it will result in providing the answers to a number of geographical questions relating to the South Polar region. Present plans call for a two-way, non-stop flight over the pole.

Washington—Word from the White House on Monday crushed in defeat Senate advocates of monetary inflation for the United States as a means of aiding the farmer. Their proposal to add remuneration of silver to President Roosevelt's far-reaching agricultural relief bill was defeated 49 to 38. Undaunted by the set back, but cheered by the gain from last January when his silver plan was defeated 50 to 35, Wheeler announced he would press it again later on. Meanwhile Thomas, Oklahoma Democrat, brought formally before the Senate another inflation plan. His proposal would give President Roosevelt broader power to expand the currency, remonetize silver

CARLAND SAYS BOW RIVER TO BE ELIMINATED

R. J. Carland, M.P. for Bow River and just back from the session at Ottawa, addressed a meeting of the C. C. F. over the radio on Monday night of this week. In view of the fact that Mr. Carland just finished his duties at the session of the House of Commons, he had many interesting matters to make, and while much of his matter was of political nature, other parts of his address were of a patriotic nature. During the course of his address the speaker practically confirmed the report that the old Bow River Constituency will be abolished and joined with East Calgary. Reason for his assumption that this would be the case was based on the fact that the present member for East Calgary, was on the Alberta committee to report on constituency changes, and he was also the member in the House to make the suggestion that the Bow River constituency be amalgamated with East Calgary. Mr. Carland had little to say regarding the outcome.

GRAND FORKS ATHLETIC ASS'N MEETS AT WEBB

Members of the Grand Forks Athletic Association assembled at Webb school on Tuesday, April 18th to decide on the amount of equipment needed for the coming sports season, and to determine the work necessary to get the equipment of existing facilities for fall games, etc.

A suggestion that a new diamond and back stop be constructed for the use of the school was approved, and the matter, together with the new sports grounds, are to be obtained as soon as possible.

With reference to the grounds on the Third Hills Creek, Mr. Sam Parson generously acceded to the request that the Association may use the grounds again this year and also furnish a portion sufficient for their needs, and to Mr. Parson and family is due, not only from the Association, but from the Community, many thanks for their kindness.

An important decision was made regarding membership fees, namely that each other parent of a family has paid the fee of 50c, all children under 18 years of age in the immediate family automatically become members of the G.P.A.A. but without privilege of voting at meetings.

The adjournment was late, consequently some business was deferred to the next meeting, which will take place at Webb in May 1st at 8.30 p.m.

GRASSHOPPER EXPECTATIONS

Though there is no need for great alarm among the farmers spring regarding grasshopper outbreak, there undoubtedly will be outbreaks in certain of the southern sections of the province. Farmers are urged not to be concerned about hoppers or eggs appearing at present but to be on the watch for breeding grounds during the latter part of May, when the harmful species will appear. The usual complete arrangements are being made this year by the provincial government to assist the farmers in combating outbreaks.

14 INCHES OF SNOW MAKES FARMER SMILE

The farmers are all smiling these days. Fourteen inches of wet snow lay on the level land on Monday, and meant less in the coulees, as the result of a previous snow storm which swept the country on Sunday and Monday of this week.

For the most fortunate the storm had been brewing and it set in on Saturday night with a drizzle, which later turned to snow. During that evening it became heavier and by morning several inches of snow was in appearance. The snow continued all day Sunday and Monday, and with the temperature ranging around 22 degrees a wet, soaking snow was the result. Many farmers in the Carbon district, particularly those who have considerable wheat sown and the moisture will be more welcome than any rain could have been at this time. It will gradually soak into the ground and little moisture will run off. Those who have not commenced to seed, will not doubt be planning to get on the land as soon as the snow has disappeared.

We had more snow on the first of the week than at any time during the winter and to look out on Monday morning one would almost imagine that we were in the middle of spring. Instead of the middle of spring, however, the snow is rapidly disappearing and everyone is content, particularly the housewives, who can rest assured that we will have no more dry storms for a few weeks at least.

The roads are slippery and are generally blocked for the first couple of days this week, with the heavy snow. The bus could not make the trip from Calgary to Drumheller on Monday, although it has managed to give good service since in spite of the roads.

WEIRD SOUND AND LIGHTNING EFFECTS IN MURDER PICTURE

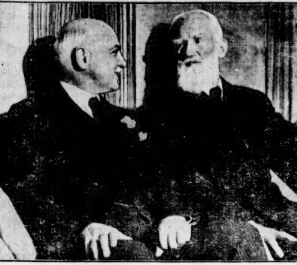

Weird sound and lightning effects belittled the atmosphere of mystery and suspense in "Giddy Hunk," which is the new murder drama showing at the Carbon Theatre on Monday, April 24th. In the murder picture Barrymore plays the part of a veteran prosecutor and criminal attorney who has both sent and saved men from the electric chair. When he determines to murder the man who he is convinced is about to ruin his daughter's happiness, he uses all past experience with criminals in hiding his part in the crime. Don't fail to see the result next Monday.

This show on Monday night is a double feature program and the other half is a full-length comedy, "Paradise U.S.A." Poor Laurel and Hardy—they do get into some tight places. Hardy with all his frontage and rear end is reclining in a lawn chair. Laurel has a hand with him. Pietro Lauro, an old-fashioned, full-length undergarment, ready for bed. In with Hardy he must go, three tiers up. He climbs up and looks for a place to park. He tries fore and aft, and off and on, and then crosswise; but he says he will the body just won't fit. The whole pantomime is a scream.

No Grants to School Falls This Year

Under the general policy of economy the provincial government will make no grants to school falls this year. There is, however, a quantity of seed on hand which will be distributed to those school fall organizations who have a position to carry on themselves this season.

"Americans Come To Me".

George Bernard Shaw, whose parent with has cultivated the world of the Canadian Pacific line "Empress of Britain" when he arrived at San Francisco recently, denied he had ever said he would never visit America.

"What I said," the Irish dramatist remarked, "was there was no need for me to visit America, as all interesting Americans come to me."

That this was true is proved by the picture, for here in the Mayor lounge of the 12,500 ton liner, he is seen with Mayor Austin Rossi, who not only went to Shaw, but dressed himself in his cutaway and wore a carnation.

SCHOOL LANDS LEASES

During the past year and a half many holders of school land sales contracts with the provincial department of lands have voluntarily relinquished their contracts, and have entered into lease arrangements covering a period of six years. These arrangements, made in anticipation of better times (as at present existing, have proved and are likely to prove in the immediate future, too uncertain for the lessee in view of the depressed state of affairs. In order to give some relief to the situation, holders of these leases will be given opportunity to obtain cultivation permits, paying to the department of lands a cash rental of four cents an acre for all portions of the land they do not cultivate. They will also pay a rental fee of $100 and a share of the crop grown on the land during 1933. The share of the crop paid any acre will not be greater than one-quarter of the crop, scaling down to one-eighth.

Settlers who make such arrangements with the department and comply with the terms of their permits, will have priority right for the renewal of their leases, and at the expiration of the season the settlers will have the first right to lease the land under the regulations of the department.

Leases are for a term of six years, renewable for a further six years, so that under these arrangements a settler may have possession of the land for 14 years if he complies fully with the requirements. In case of land leased from the department, a refund of taxes to the lessee will be made of taxes paid on the cultivated area, up to the amount of the department's share of the crop. There is, however, a quantity of seed on hand which will be distributed to those school fall organizations who have a position to carry on themselves this season.

CAR ACCIDENT NEAR CENTRAL SERVICE STAT'N

Don Eismat, of East Carbon, sustained serious injuries shortly after 3 o'clock on Friday morning, April 14, when the car he was driving overturned, and three times on the main highway about seven miles from Carbon, and near the Central Service Station.

Eismat was rushed to the municipal hospital at Drumheller by Humber's ambulance and later that night his condition was reported to be fair. Physicians had not determined the extent of his injuries, but he is believed to be suffering from a fractured skull. Following the accident Const. Moriarty, R.C.M.P. of Carbon, and Dr. McFarlane were notified and immediately proceeded to the scene of the accident. They found that the car was totally wrecked and that both Eismat and a companion had been tossed through the roof of the vehicle. The companion was not seriously injured, escaping with but a few scratches. Eismat, however, was lying on the ground in unconscious condition and during the ambulance ride he remained in a state of coma and was still unconscious when admitted to the hospital.

A Cold Summer

Prediction That the Sun Will Show Less Heat For the Next Two Years

A prediction the sun will be colder for the next two years, with the possibility the earth will be affected in a way as yet unknown, was issued by Dr. Charles G. Abbot, secretary of the Smithsonian Institution.

Dr. Abbot already has had some success as a predictor of the sun's "weather." In 1910 he forecast two warm years on the sun, which in general has been fulfilled. Measurements have shown the sun has been giving out considerably more heat than normal since then.

Dr. Abbot's prediction is based on long study of periodical rises and falls in the sun's heat.

Protection For Planes

Ice Umbrella Will Shield Hub Of The Propeller

An ice umbrella for propeller hubs, a device said to overcome the last remaining top peril for aeroplanes, was announced at Cornell University.

This umbrella shields the hub of the propeller.

The danger is not from the ice on or directly in front of the hub, but the danger is from the ice spreading in both directions outward along the whirling blades.

Depression Has Hit Court Interpreters

Lack Of Foreign Weddings In Montreal Affects Their Income

Interpreters in the recorder's court at Montreal, are blaming a lack of weddings in Montreal's foreign colony for their reduced earnings lately. There was a time when weddings and the celebrations following them were numerous and quite often those who celebrated too much found themselves explaining the reason for their actions in court. It was a poor day when that did not bring forth five or six cases for the interpreter to take part in and, of course, the more cases the larger his income. Now many people are out of work and cannot afford to get married. Those who do, fail to celebrate, making appearances in court rare, complained one man who had earned only $6 in one week.

One Called "Palmito" Entails Cutting Down Palm Tree

The visit of the Argentine Mission to London has already had its influence on restaurants. Many are specializing in dishes and delicacies peculiar to South America. One of these is "palmito," an hors-d'oeuvre very popular with the Prince of Wales. He first tasted it in Buenos Aires three years ago. Its preparation entails cutting down a palm tree. The heart is then cut into cubes, soaked in oil, and served with lemon, anchovies, and sliced olives.

Disease-Resistant Wheats

Small Quantities Of Seed Are Now Made Available

Highly disease-resistant wheats have now been produced that are perfectly satisfactory from the standpoint of quality and agronomic behavior, the associate, committee on field crop diseases announced at the conclusion of its fifth annual meeting in the Dominion Trust Research Laboratory in Winnipeg, Dr. C. H. Goulden, of the laboratory, presented the report.

"It seems that out of 33 strains in the co-operative tests of 1932 at least six are suitable for distribution to farmers, but only small quantities of seed are available at present, and it will take two seasons to increase the quantity available to the required point," the statement read. "In the meantime, commercial milling tests will be made on the strains selected and further field tests, with a view to reducing their number to two or three adapted to the varying conditions to be found in the wheat-growing area."

"Every effort will be made from now on to increase the seed of these wheats as rapidly as possible."

Barter Party Is Latest

Social Event Held Recently In Buffalo

Proved a Success

Bartering has reached the stage of social function in Buffalo, not merely because adapting amusement to hard times is a fashion of the day, but also because there is fun in novel experiences.

The Currents Event Club, made up of women who hardly are in the economic stage which makes bartering necessary, has set the example with a barter party, and the members have such a good time that they objected to make it an annual event. The objects offered for barter were bracelets, necklaces, book ends, preserves, cakes use of automobiles, offered to sew and mend, orders for gasoline, bridge lessons and a multitude of other things representing the activities of the modern woman.

To Take Precautions

Parts Of Saskatchewan Threatened With Hogger Plague

Early precautions against the outbreak of a grasshopper plague in parts of Saskatchewan are urged upon farmers by officials of the department of agriculture.

Severe outbreaks of the plague are expected in southeastern Saskatchewan in the Estevan area, comprising a semi-circular tract of land including the towns of Torquay, Hinton, Wilmar, Nottingham and Canadish. The badly affected area also takes in a longitudinal strip up the centre of the province, starting in the south at Assiniboia and stretching far north in a narrow area to the southern boundary of Saskatchewan. Lesser areas are located at Noldpath, Piapot and Seely.

CHRIST APPEARS TO SIMON PETER

Golden Text: "Because I live, ye shall live also."—John 14:19.

Lesson: 1 Corinthians 15:1-8, 20-28.

Devotional Reading: 1 Corinthians 15:50-58.

Explanations and Comments

The Historical Evidence of the Resurrection of Christ, verses 1-8.—"Now, brethren, I desire unto you the good tidings which I preached unto you with you at Corinth," Paul wrote his church here. The Corinthians were not in danger of denying Christianity, but of accepting its true teachings as Paul had proclaimed them, and so he continued: "I delivered unto you which you received, to which you subscribe, if you remain true to my preaching—unless you believed in vain."

"If I believed in immortality as you believe in it, as you profess to do, I should live a far better life than you appear to live. I should strive more earnestly and bear more patiently. I do not think I should ever be troubled with a fear, or worried with an earthly burden. I think I would be all might and joy if I believed as you do in eternal things—in resurrection and a life beyond in which all things will be made right."—Harriet Martineau.

Most important of all the good tidings I declared unto you, which I was told (probably by Peter and James on his visit to Jerusalem recorded in Acts 9:1-28) is that Christ died to atone for our sins according to the scriptures, that He was buried, and that He was raised on the third day.

Oh, vanquished grave of Jesus whose power no work no change upon His heart!

Oh, deep sepulchre of Jesus whose depths can hide a whole world's

That He appeared to Simon Peter (Luke 24:34); to The Twelve (Paul keeps the symbolic number, though Jesus was dead); then to more than 500 at once; (usually identified with Matthew 28:7, 16-20), some of whom are dead, but the greater number are still living (and you can have their direct testimony, if you wish). Then He appeared to James, the brother of Jesus (Acts 1:13; Gal. 1:19); then to all the apostles, just before the Ascension (Acts 1:4). And last of all, as to the child untimely born, He appeared to me also, in the way to Damascus (Acts 9).

Celebrating Its Jubilee

Alexandra Club Was Started In London

By W. W. Wainwright

The Alexandra Club, oldest of women's clubs in London, is about to celebrate its jubilee. It was launched in a day when women were in a position could not stay at hotels unless they were formally chaperoned. As to entering a meal in the public dining-room of an hotel or restaurant in 1883, it was simply not done by "gentlewomen." The Alexandra Club was started by a bold band of pioneers, who were lured by the prospect of a new era. So carefully was it conducted that no man was allowed to enter the premises. To this rule men are only tolerated at festive.

Chose the Better Way

Hospital In India Fitting Memorial For Late Sir William Wainman

Sir William Wainman, considered to have been the most famous surgeon in India, is dead in California. Native Canadian, he went to India years ago under the auspices of the Presbyterian Church in the United States. There he was not used to erect a memorial to him; the Presbyterian Hospital at Miraj, India, tells the story better than anything else can do.

He had not been in India long before the people turned toward him. He was as much a missionary as a surgeon. Those who were wealthy came, and it is said that Sir William could have made himself rich in his profession.

It is recorded that he retained only his salary as a missionary, turning over his fees to build a 250-bed hospital, also a medical school and five outpatient stations. More than that he maintained the staff of 125 working in the hospital, paying their salaries, and due to his efforts there was brought into existence, a leper sanatorium and a tubercular hospital in the vicinity.

Had this man of God been concerned about building his private fortune he could have done so. He could have weeded out the needy folk who paid him nothing; he could have allowed the lepers to continue standing on one side, victims of a living death. He could have so divided his time that he might have retired immensely wealthy, and with his retirement his work would have ceased.

Sir William chose the better way. Today the doors of the ample hospital are open; the work of caring for sick folk goes on. In the days of his strength he used his powers to create something which would live long after his skill and direction had been removed.

It makes good reading; there is much that is entirely wholesome about the outlook and concentration of such a man. This country would be rich indeed if it could keep on producing men of similar vision.—St. Thomas Times-Journal.

Sharing Large Houses

Fashion Introduced In London By Duke Of Connaught

In these hard-up times people in London are trying to solve the problem of being saddled with houses too large for them by dividing them into family flats. Instead of young married couples taking small houses in Chelsea or elsewhere, they insist on themselves in part of the parental home with separate housekeeping of their own. The idea was started by the Duke of Connaught, who gave Lady Patricia Ramsay, an "apartment" in Clarence House when she married.

Viccount Makoto Saito, Japan's Elderly Premier, Has Bought a Large Armored American Automobile

Viccount Makoto Saito, Japan's elderly Premier, has bought a large armored American automobile. It is bullet proof against small weapons. The machine, costing $45,000, is a closed limousine with bullet-proof glass. Threats against the Premier's life have been increasingly frequent. His two predecessors were assassinated by nationalist fanatics.

Later, when they started out to the plane, Buzzard glanced at the tanks and remarked tersely:

"I hope you boys, this Hardack, has got some gas and oil out to that lake. I'll be our finish if he hasn't."

"Bill will have it there," Alan said. "He may not be there himself, but he's probably on duty; but we agreed exactly where to catch it. I'll be waiting for us."

They climbed in, faded twice around the lake to warm the spluttering motor, took off and headed north toward Goose Point at Lake En Travese.

With the heavy rains stopped and the insect swarms abating, Alan knew the landings were on the move again or shortly would be. When they did, he wanted to be there on the big Alouka to look for Joyce.

Ever since he came to believe that Dave MacMillan knew nothing of the crime, he had been puzzling about that pack of stolen furs. Something dark and sinister lay behind that pack. There was some connection between the trader and those criminals, but what?

He reasoned: "Those furs didn't get in that shed by accident. Those men might have had a grudge against Dave MacMillan and planned them to strike at Joyce."

If they intended anything against Joyce, they doubtless would attempt it just before they started eastward on their trek through the Great Barrens and Strong-Woods. Alan had dreamed of that, dreamed of her being captured and taken along, as the landlady had captured Margaret Fournier.

With Hassell refusing to extend any protection whatsoever, Alan felt that he and he alone stood between her and a terrible danger. If anything happened to the "plane," to him and Buzzard.

Looking ahead through the proper disk, he glimpsed the great blue lake of his rendezvous with Bill. A few minutes later on the northern shore he sighted Goose Point reaching into the sunlit waters of En Travese.

Leaning forward, he pointed out the promontory to Buzzard and shouted into his partner's ear:

"That's the place, Billy. Close down and light, close in as you can. I don't see Bill there, but he probably couldn't get away from that to wait for us. Our engine are caught in that net of willow thicket back next to the wood. We'll go ashore and get them."

Buzzard cut off the ignition. The engine sputtered. As the plane glided down at a mile-long tangent and swept over Goose Point, Alan looked into the slipstream and looked under each, searching the flag-and-willow headland for a possible sight of Bill Hardack.

Hardly expecting to meet Bill, he was not surprised when his old partner failed to show up. But as the machine glided silently over the point, his eyes were caught by an object there on the muddy landwash. At a second glance he saw it was a large gasoline drum lying in full view at the very tip of the headland.

The sight of the drum startled him. He uttered silently: "Why the devil did Bill put that thing out there so glaring? He didn't need to draw my attention; we arranged about the cache."

Beyond the point the plane touched the surface, plowed on through a shower of spray and came to a stop three hundred yards off the landwash. He saw, he heard, and he felt the launch, hidden behind a low-sweeping balsam at water edge, Inspector Hassell and Corporal Whipple watched the machine whir over the point.

As it came down and down, Hassell clutched his rifle a little tighter and watched intently.

His heart leaped as the machine touched the wavelets skimming on a little distance, and came to a stop.

"My boys are going ashore," he breathed. "I'll be damned to Whipple as though unable to believe his incredible luck. 'We'll swim out and ram the plane' out never."

Trussey, Alan stood up in the cockpit and searched the headland with his glasses. Over and over he kept telling himself that it wasn't like Bill's cautious old patrol partner, but that when he got out there.

While he was searching the point, he felt Buzzard excitedly grasp his arm.

"Alan! Look!" . . . Lord's sake!—look! He whistled and looked where he pointed, at the southern shore of a sudden eight miles away.

On a long, thin headland there lay a sudden sheet of flame had leaped up nearly sixty feet into the air and stood out above the tree tops, with a fiery puff and cloudburst of smoke visible for miles and miles across the open water. A few seconds later the flame died a little, as though it had been of explosive origin, but a clump of paper birches up which the flame had raced still continued to turn like a gigantic torch.

Focusing on that distant headland, Alan saw nothing except the fire, wrapped birches. As he brought the telescope down, mystified, frowning, his uneasiness swept through him again, sharp and insistent. That suspicious drum of gasoline—Bill surely wouldn't have left it out there. That huge burst of fire across the lake—it had some meaning.

"Buzzard, something's wrong here. I don't like the idea of the plane going ashore here. If something's wrong, you don't know what we might be waiting for."

"Well, what're you going to do? We've got seven gallons of gas in the wing tank and five in the emergency, and we can't get far on that."

"Maybe so, but I'm not walking in to any trap. Somebody's over there where we saw that big gob of fire. I'm suggesting we get into the air again, skip hop across and have a look-see. That's our best bet. A layout here has all off-color and I know it."

"All right. We'll hop across. But a couple more hours over this landscape, and we'll be rocking on the water."

From the height of a hundred feet Alan looked ahead through his glasses, scrutinizing that timbered point where the birches were still ablaze.

He started as the glasses picked up a tiny man-figure far away on that headland. Watching he saw it rush out upon the extreme rock tip. With the plane whirling nearer, he caught the figure in sharper focus, he caught the figure of Bill Hardack!

Waving his arms, hat and part of a pine tree, Bill was frantically trying to draw their attention.

Alan, leaned forward, cupped his hands and shouted to Buzzard:

"That's Bill! There on the headland. Light and taxi in. He's waving us down, so it must be safe. We'll soon see what the trouble is."

They angled down on the water and landed. In a flash, in a case, Bill came paddling out to meet them. "I knowed you'd make it, Alan!" he panted, looking with marvelling eyes at Buzzard and the plane. "I knowed you'd show up sometime. The gas and oil—that is, most of it—it's right ashore here, ready for us. There's more cached up the slope, too. I was scared. . . . When you lit down there. . . . Lord! I was afraid you were a genius!"

Having introduced a new partner to an old one, Alan demanded: "What 'you mean, Bill? What under heaven are you doing over here? What happened? What, you're all shot?"

"A half-dead," Bill admitted. His voice was thick, he could hardly swallow. With the long strain over, a fear full reaction had set in. He looked ready to fall down dead asleep. "But what happened?" Alan repeated.

"Alan, that 'Johnny Jump-up' caught onto our trick. He was out to bag his air machine and nail you two. And he came skittish close to doing it. Lemme tell you."

"I had those drums cached over there on Goose Point like arranged. I was waiting there, never suspecting a thing. One evening. . . . Must've been four or five days ago. Felt a bear best track of mine. Anyway, I was sitting there in the willows slapping mosquitoes and listening to a couple whisky-jacks."

"I had that something back at the timber edge."

"I hadn't noticed much to do, so I set up some more back that way right where all the furs was about. When I got up pretty close I all at once smelled tobacco smoke, cigarette smoke. I faint whiff, but no mistake about it."

"What the s—!" says I. 'Who's smoking Turkey tobacco around here? I don't see no heavy right away. I followed my nose up-wind and snuck up real careful. There in the willows I saw a balsam tree that that Ogi-Tomax, sitting against a tree, lighting one cigarette on the butt of the last. They were that kind of cigarette that Hassell gets clear from Paris, Alan."

"When he finally got wise to somebody being near, he grabbed for his rifle. But I must track for him, too quick and hit a couple times, and while he was coming out of it I topped that gun of his around a tree. He coughed him and asked him what the condemnation his intentions might be. At first he closed his eyes, but when he saw I was looking at him, he opened them and he said: 'I was suspicious of him laying low there watching me, so I up and landed. I shot him, but he lay low and said: 'I'll be damned, you two when you lit down. Two bits to a shirt button they're over there right now!'"

"As he thought how close he and Buzzard had come to going ashore and being captured, Alan shuddered. "Bill, you're on when the time comes. I told me that. . . . I said, I'd make some talk tracks! I never got out a wiggie on in my life. With the Smokey Mountain smoke, I was across the lake and snaked the drums all away—all except one drum when I heard the launch coming and didn't have time."

"It's still over there," Alan interjected. "They rolled it out in plain sight like a decoy, but instead of that it made me suspicious. They overplayed. But what got you all out this way, Bill?"

Would Use Wheat.

Urges Use Of Surplus Grain For Fuel.

Action by the Department of Agriculture with a view to the use of surplus grain, principally wheat, for fuel in the industrial sector, was urged in the House of Commons.

The department, said G. G. Coote, (U.F.A., Macleod), when pressing the matter, should be made a compulsory inquiry into the feasibility of early action in this direction.

With a mixture of 15 to 20 per cent industrial alcohol could be made composed of gasoline, a motor spirit fuel could be produced.

A bill to amend the law was introduced at Washington, asserted Mr. Coote. The U.F.A. member read an editorial estimating the use of surplus grain for industrial alcohol would raise the price of wheat about 10 cents per bushel.

Refuse from the grain used for manufacturing industrial alcohol could be used for feeding purposes for cattle.

Mr. Coote said.

WOMAN LOSES 28 lbs.

Trips Upstairs Like a 2-Year-Old.

A woman writes:—"Three months ago, after much argument, I was persuaded against my will to try Kruschen. . . . I had tried other things, but all to no avail. After three weeks of Kruschen I had lost 5 lbs. 4 ozs. and in five weeks more I really must say I feel a different woman. My age is 37 years. I have now lost 28 lbs. to date, while before, to go upstairs was a great effort, now, as my husband says, I trip like a two-year-old."

(Mrs.) R.G.B.

Kruschen keeps the system free from encumbering waste matter. This waste is regularly expelled. It will give rise to rheumatic and other body poisons. And Nature takes its due defensive measure of storing this poison-breeding material out of the way in the form of fat tissue. Unless it must, it will not be merely a laxative. It is a combination of six salts which have a tonic influence upon every organ, gland, nerve and fibre of your body.

An Unenviable Record.

United States Has Highest Murder Rate in World.

The United States still leads the civilized world in the number of murders per year, according to Dr. Fredrick Hoffman, statistician, whose survey, based on homicide records from 180 cities, is published in the Spectator, an insurance periodical.

The rate for the United States in 1932 was 10.8 homicides per 100,000 of population.

"Human life was never so cheap and insecure in the United States as at the present time," writes Dr. Hoffman, "and murder is decidedly more common in the country than in any other country of the world which makes a claim to be civilized. It is also the lamentable truth that crime and punishment in this country often lie far apart."

He noted that the rate for England and Wales in 1931 was 0.5 per 100,000 of population, as compared with that of seventy-six deaths of males by homicide in these countries in 1932 as compared with 68 per cent in the United States.

Dr. Hoffman cited the shooting of Mayor Cermak of Chicago and the narrow escape of President Roosevelt as instances of the cases with which the means of murder can be acquired.

"Murder more than ever," he wrote, "is becoming an ingenious art. If a trade, in this country and the number of murderers at large must be quite considerable."

A Bad Custom.

Getting By Without Paying Is Not To Be Commended.

A Western Ontario paper defends young men who stole a ride on a train to see a hockey match in Toronto. It recalls that in the past nothing much was said when lad helped himself to a can of soda. The lack of cash to start a fire with, or took apples from an orchard, or sneaked into the Caledonian games without paying at the door. He may think one bad custom does not excuse another worse one. There are people who think it is clever to slip by the street car conductor without putting a ticket in the box, but they probably would not like to be caught doing it.

Record Still Stands.

The world's record for longest non-stop run in the history of railway operation was made in 1929 between Montreal and Vancouver, a distance of 2,937 miles, still stands. It was made by all-electric car owned by Canadian National Railways motor-power engineers. The journey was completed in 67 hours and the Rocky mountains were crossed at a speed of 10 miles an hour.

A Lucky Occupation.

Babe Ruth has signed a contract to play with the New York Yankees for $52,000 a year. He has been with the team four years and has been paid over $50,000. He is 30 years old and can retire at any time with an assured income of $10,000 per year. Baseball has been good to him.

Some of the stunted trees in the "Barren Lands" of Canada are fully 20 years old.

The Building Industry.

Timing Of Public Construction Projects For Depression Effects.

Timing of public construction projects for depression periods to help the construction industry, urged upon the federal government by the council of the Saskatchewan Association of Architects.

The council met at Regina recently to back up the decisions of a meeting of representatives of the construction industry held in Toronto in February.

Committees were appointed for Regina, Moose Jaw and Saskatoon whose duty it will be to discover what building could be undertaken by corporations which do not have to depend upon loans to finance construction.

Worst Yet To Come

Seismologist Says Californians May Expect More Severe Earthquakes.

Folk who live in the state of California recently shaken by earthquakes are certain they passed through a period of major tribulation. We agree they did. People who live in houses and buildings of larger size may think the shaking like jelly even if they did not find it so.

Little Helps For This Week

"Judge not, that ye be not judged," —Matthew 7:1.

"Why beholden thou the mote that is in thy brother's eye; but perceivest not the beam that is in thine own eye?" —Luke 6:41.

Judge not, the working of his brain. Aid of his heart thou cannot not see. What looks to thy dim eyes a stain, And thou, pure light, is in thine own eye. A scorch, brought from some well-worn shoe, Where thou wouldst only faint and yield. —Adelaide A. Procter.

When you behold an actor, for whose costume, gleam and frown you cannot account, whose unvarying count exasperates you by its unvarying carelessness, be sure there is a canker within his optimism. "Son of a gun," he is less than he seems. The less deeply corroding because it is concealed. —Charlotte Brontë.

While we are coldly discussing a man's career, sneering at his mistakes, blaming his rashness, and labelling his opinions "Son of a gun," and "Narrow," that man in his solitude is perhaps shedding hot tears because his sacrifice is a hard one, because strength and patience are failing him to speak the difficult word, and do the difficult deed. —George Eliot.

Dry For Many Years

A city of nearly 12,000 people, Vandergrift, Pennsylvania, may be destined to remain dry for the next six-to-two years. Even if the Eighteenth Amendment is repealed, the town was founded in 1866 on land deeded to the Vandergrift Land and Improvement Company by the old American and Steel Company. A provision of the deed is that "for a period of ninety-nine years from date no malt, vinous or spirituous liquors, shall be sold on this property." Under its terms, property on which that clause is violated would revert to the general owners.

John Galloway, prominent British novelist and playwright, who died last January 31, left an estate of £88,587 (about $142,945 at par). Details of the valuation of the estate were not revealed, excepting a provision in biography of the great author, who won the 1932 Nobel prize for literature, he written without consent of his widow.

BITTER, SWEET AND BEER

(The Carbon Albertan)

Now that legalized beer has come back to America, certain changes may be expected in the matrimonial habits of the people who live there—that is, if we assume that the Americans are going to drink more beer than they did liberal beer.

The days of cream puffs and whipped cream sandwiches for men are drawing to an end, for no man of normal taste likes to munch a cream puff after a glass of beer, or to wash the puff down with that fluid.

Cheese, saucers, anchovies and all these delicacies which have a bitter tang will come into their own again.

We are never glad. It is, we admit, blind, unreasoning and very reprehensible prejudice, but we have always considered that there was something wrong about an honest-to-goodness man seriously sitting down to a white and sticky mess over which grated nuts have been sprinkled and down the sides of which little streams of hot chocolate are coursing. Such a sight makes one want to swallow a bottle of Worcester sauce.
